KING EDWARD'S HUMOR.

England's New Sovereign Enjoys a Joke as Well as Other People.

King Edward of England is a merry monarch. At least he was reputed to be merry before he attained his present august dignity.

Some years ago, when Arthur Roberts was singing his song "We are a merry family, we are, we are, we are!" the prince was asked for the solution of a knotty point. He merely shrugged his shoulders and said: "We are a royal family, V. R., V. R., V. R."

He was at the theater one night watching the famous Fletcher playing "Robert Macaire." The adventurer's coat was apparently a mass of rents and patches, but the prince's keen eye quickly noted that the garment was singularly well-cut. After the play the prince sent for Fletcher and asked him who his tailor was. The actor replied that Mr. Poole had made the coat he was wearing. The next day the prince sent for the tailor, who from that hour was a made man.

All the world knows that both the carriage and saddle horses of the prince of Wales have as part of their equipment a forehead band of the color known as royal scarlet. When the prince and his daughters ride in Hyde park their horses are, therefore, distinguished from those of other people by these particular forehead bands. One morning the horses of a certain financier and his two daughters were conspicuously adorned with red bands that are by etiquette reserved for the use of royalty. The prince and the young princesses, who were riding in the row, could not help noting this vulgarity. On the following day it was seen that the prince had replaced his scarlet forehead bands by others of plain black leather, and the financier and his daughters had it all their own way in the matter of royal red.

ACTS AS GAME CONSTABLE.

The Young Husband of Queen Wilhelmina Acts in a Humble Official Position.

Queen Wilhelmina's new husband has acquired distinction in the vicinity of the royal residence by acting as a game warden. Two jolly Dutchmen fond of poaching entered the forest of Loo a few days ago in the hope of being able to snare a few partridges, says a London correspondent.

In this task they were quite successful, but as they were sneaking home through the trees at a little distance from the royal castle in which Queen Wilhelmina and the prince of Mecklenburg are spending their honeymoon they found themselves face to face with another sportsman.

It was, in fact, the prince of Mecklenburg himself.

The poachers did not know him, and the two Dutchmen never suspecting that this handsome young gentleman was laying a trap, told him all about themselves and consequently were surprised when the prince told them to hand over their partridges and give him their names. They complied sullenly and then went home, where they were arrested a few hours later on the charge of poaching.

The prince of Mecklenburg has never been popular with the people of Holland, and his action on this occasion has helped to intensify the ill-feeling against him, since the general opinion is that a man in his position could afford to overlook the peccadillo of which the two Dutchmen were guilty.

Gold in the Carpets.

An order has gone out from the treasury department that before the various superintendents submit their reports for the current year they shall burn the rugs and carpets on the floors of the rooms where smelting and refining of gold and silver takes place. All the old cloths, gloves and other paraphernalia used in handling the precious metals are to be burned also and careful stock taken of the residue. The government expects to save anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000 from this process. It is customary to go through this formula every year or so and glean out all flakes of gold that may have been scraped or clipped off and lost to sight. Even the towels the employees wash their hands on are saved and submitted to fire.

IS STILL FOR PEACE.

Czar Gives Most Interesting Interview to Frederick W. Hollis.

Expresses Deepest Gratification Over Cordial Support of the United States Government and People to The Hague Conference.

Frederick W. Hollis, of the international court of arbitration, left for Warsaw the other night, after having been received in special audience by Emperor Nicholas at Peterhof palace at noon that day. The conference was extended and most cordial. It is understood that the emperor thanked Mr. Hollis for his history of the peace conference, dedicated to his majesty, and expressed the deepest gratification over the cordial support from the American people and the United States government, declaring that he wished to thank the various American organizations, such as churches and chambers of commerce, for their enthusiastic efforts in behalf of peace.

It is also understood that the emperor spoke warmly of the excellent relations—historical, traditional and actual—between the United States and Russia, and expressed a hope that both powers, with their great resources, would continue to stand for peace and the strengthening of The Hague tribunal and the bloodless adjustment of international difficulties. His majesty expressed a conviction that the peace conference marked an important step in advance, but that the tribunal must seek support, first and foremost, in the intelligent opinion of the world, adding that in this matter American opinion was universally recognized as leading. Without the backing of the American government and people, the emperor observed, the conference could not have been such a success.

BUILT FOR AMERICAN WATERS

Designer Watson Complains That Trial Races at Shamrock II Do Not Fairly Show What She Can Do.

A dispatch to the New York World from Glasgow says: Designer Watson is greatly worried by criticisms passed on his workmanship on the challenger. He told Lipton he did not place any value on the result of the trial races on the European side. He built the yacht with an eye to American sailing conditions, and nothing has happened to alter his judgment that she will prove the fastest challenger he ever sent across.

Capt. Sycamore expresses entire agreement with this view. He says if he and Watson had had their way the challenger would have been taken straight across the Atlantic when she was launched, to be tuned up there, but Lipton did not want this, as his only chance of getting the king as his guest was to have the Solent trials.

They were accordingly arranged. Watson disapproved of them from the first. He blames the hurry with which the boat was fitted in order to bring them off. The accident and indifferent performances will cost Lipton another $35,000 to send Shamrock I. to Sandy Hook, but expense never deterred him doing anything to assist in enabling him to lift the cup.

Finds Germ to Stay Rats.

The rats at the city hospital of Cincinnati are now under a plague which promises to rid the institution of their presence. Recently one of the doctors employed in the new laboratory discovered that a disease which assumed epidemic tendencies had broken out among a collection of rats which were being held for experimental purposes. Further investigations were made to determine the cause of the trouble and from the liver and spleen of the affected animals a bacillus was detached which proved on inoculation extremely fatal to both rats and mice. Nearly every rat in the establishment seems to have caught the disease, and they are dying off in large numbers. Those affected have a peculiar snuffle or cough, which may be heard from their haunts before the disease has progressed sufficiently to make them take to the open in search of fresh air and water.

Canaries in a Church Choir.

The "Children's day" services at Trinity Methodist church, at Atlanta, Ga., the other morning were rendered absolutely unique by the presence of hundreds of singing canaries in cages suspended from the walls and fixtures of the edifice. Several days ago the church wardens determined to differentiate this occasion from others, and secured the necessary number of songsters. The cages were swung in convenient places and at the morning services the canaries started a perfect Niagara of melody, which continued throughout the service and made it almost impossible to distinguish the words of the preachers. When the congregational singing began the canaries were tremendously excited, and the accompaniment of their shrill chirping made the occasion one never to be forgotten.

Good Post to Tie To.

Down in Tennessee the other day a man named Gatepost was married to a girl named Rains. It is not specified, however, says the Chicago Record-Herald, that this is a case of throwing the reins over the gatepost.

Smooth.

Oileocrat is a new word coined to fit the new conditions which have been developed of late in the Beaumont district of Texas, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Our vocabulary—as well as our pockets—is thus being enriched.

DOLLARS IN ODD SHAPES.

Process Through Which the Silver Is Put Before It Becomes a Coin.

Under the law, a silver dollar may be a grain and a half over weight, and this "limit of tolerance" applies to all of our silver coins. In other words, they are not allowed to vary more than that much from standard. In the case of gold pieces, the limit is half a grain either way, up to the eagle; a variation of as much as one grain being permissible in the $10 and $20 pieces, says the Saturday Evening Post.

Whenever a fresh batch of dollars is turned out at the mint, samples are forwarded to the treasury at Washington, where they are put through a very curious process. Each dollar is first weighed on exquisitely delicate scales, to make sure that it is heavy enough, and yet not too heavy. Then it passes between two steel rollers again and again, until it is flattened out and transformed into a thin strip of silver—a sort of ribbon—a foot and a half in length. Then it is put beneath a little machine provided with several small punches, by which hundreds of tiny disks are punched out of the metal strip.

Now, the object of this performance is to obtain samples of metal from all parts of the dollar, inasmuch as it is conceivable that one portion might be richer in silver than another. The little disks are shuffled together, and a few of them, taken at random from the lot, are subjected to an assay. The fineness of the material of the dollar is ascertained with absolute accuracy, and the weight having been already determined, the value and correctness of that coin are perfectly known.

The sample pieces having been found correct, it is inferred that the entire batch of dollars is all right.

DONE BY POST OFFICE WOMAN.

Employee in the Chicago Department Who Has Accomplished a Wonder.

There is a woman on the Chicago post office force who is doing what no other woman in the city can do, and very few men, says an exchange of that city.

About three years ago Miss Henrich was put on as a substitute clerk at the Lincoln park substation, which distributes mail to one of the largest districts in the city. During last year 15,000,000 pieces of mail were handled there.

While Miss Henrich was serving as substitute she had plenty of spare time, which she spent in learning the "distribution scheme," which is the burden of every green employee's life.

The "scheme" is an arrangement of pigeonholes where the mail is thrown before being delivered. At Lincoln park station there are 64 holes, one for each carrier, and the various streets and dividing numbers of each carrier's district must be thoroughly memorized, so that when the mail is dumped on the distributing table in large sack loads no delay will result in "throwing" the letters properly.

Last November Miss Henrich was appointed a regular clerk, and at a test given to the clerks by Superintendent Herman Lieb, the woman employee asked to be allowed to compete, and she made as good a record as any of her fellow-employees by making only one error in "throwing" 500 letters. This has been repeated every day since her entry into the service.

We Now Grow Giant Bats.

With the Philippines we have acquired quite a remarkable addition to our zoology in a giant bat that far exceeds in size his cousins on this continent. He is a repulsive looking, stupid, slow-flying creature, that often reaches the measurement of 30 inches from tip to tip of his demonic wings, says the New York Herald.

With all of his horrible appearance he is not only harmless, but to some extent useful, in destroying noxious insects and in furnishing a small amount of not very appetizing food. In the evenings these bats swoop through the streets of the towns, in large numbers, slowly, and apparently without ability to dodge objects that present danger, so they are readily struck down with clubs. They are sold in the market at less than two cents each, being bought only by the very poor natives, who get a little quantity of meat off each side of them under the wings. The rest is too tough and strong, even for a poor hungry Filipino.

Seven Denominations in Wedding.

"The college roommate of a friend of mine was engaged to a lady in New York," writes Rev. D. M. Steele in his article on "Some People I Have Married," in Ladies' Home Journal. "His people are Congregationalists, but while at Yale he became a Unitarian. Her parents are Roman Catholics, but she was a member of the Ethical Culture society at Carnegie hall. In compliance with her mother's wish he asked five different priests to marry them, but all refused. In despair he came for me. I married them, an Episcopalian, with the ritual service in a Presbyterian chapel. The Roman Catholic brother of the bride and the Congregational sister of the groom were present. This sister acted as one witness; the other witness was a Jewess."

Chestnut Growing in France.

In no part of the world does the business of growing chestnuts receive so much attention and involve the outlay of so much capital as in France. These delicious and popular nuts are shipped from France to all other countries, the United States receiving a goodly share.

Alcedo's Victory.

By Associated Press.

New York, June 15.—Before 20,000 people at Sheepshead Bay, one of the most disagreeable days the Suburban was ever run, J. H. McCormick's Alcedo came home winner in but two-fifths of a second more than when Salvatore made the record eleven years ago. The crowd cheered wildly for there was a hot tip on him and he won easily. Toddy managed to hold second place until by a few jumps Water Cure passed him and left him third. The favorite Ethelbert was badly beaten and away back in the rack. There was a cold northeast wind.

Ethelbert was at all times a consistent favorite for the Suburban, although a lot of money went in on Alcedo.

The sixth break was sent off with Water Cure in front Alcedo second Ethelbert third, Star Bright fourth and the rest close up. On the way to the grand stand they settled in the stretch and as they came to the lower turn Alcedo got to the front, but only by a fraction, with All Gold second and Ethelbert third. Around the turn to the half mile pole of the back stretch there was a little shifting of positions. All Gold falling to fourth place. There was a pretty race between the leaders up the back stretch and everybody shouted at the streak of blue and white, for Toddy elected to make his run then and at the three-quarter pole he was a neck beat of Alcedo and two lengths and a half in front of Blues, he in turn being just clear of Ethelbert, who seemed to be slowly slipping back. In almost the twinkling of an eye the head of Toddy was a half length, then a length, and then an open length, as they swung around the broad upper turn. Spencer, on Alcedo, at the seven furlong pole, pulled on Alcedo, who responded bravely. In a series of herculean bounds he passed Keene's four year old almost as if standing still. In the tremendous burst of speed they headed into the last quarter. Alcedo was a length to the good over Toddy, who was two lengths in front of the rest of the field, all of whom were dropping back, beaten with the exception of Water Cure, on whom Shaw was making a desperate effort. Ethelbert was badly beaten and was away back in the rack and losing ground at every stride. At last, straightened out for home, the prize was one for Alcedo, and Spencer took a steady pull on the leader, but him kept well in stride. In the meantime little Smith was riding hard and doing his best to hold Toddy in second place. He almost succeeded but Shaw had a better horse under him. Water Cure took second place a few jumps from the wire. In the meantime Alcedo was running along comfortably in front and when the wire was reached he carried the great race. The crowd shouted as loudly as if Ethelbert were the winner.

Newport.

Cincinnati, O., June 15.—The track at Newport was muddy today, but the racing was very interesting from the time standpoint.

Five furlongs: Bentley B., first; Brown Vail, second; Robert Morrison, third. Time, 1:45.

Six furlongs: Pure Wood, first; The Bronze Demon, second; Juniper, third. Time, 1:56.

Six furlongs: Eva Wilson, first; Sweet Dream, second; Jim Gore, third. Time, 1:54.

Five and eighteenth: Charlie O'Brien, first; Albert Vale, second; Strathbrock, third. Time 1:56.

Four and one-half furlongs: Insolence, first; Faleta, second; The Widow, third. Time, 56.

Six furlongs: Robert Gray, first; Galloocan, second; Phophorus, third. Time, 1:16.

St. Louis.

By Associated Press.

St. Louis, June 15.—Silverdale carried the colors of John W. Schorr to Victory in the St. Louis derby, covering a mile and a half in 2:35, which is within a second of the track record for the distance. Racing continues perfect. Silverdale was the favorite, 6 to 5. Sannazarro and Gaherls were next best liked.

Duellist made a running to the mile post, where he quit. Sannazarro then assumed command and showed the way into the stretch. When straightened out for home Woods went to bat and Silverdale responding gamely and pressed rapidly, tying Sannazarro at the last furlong.

Lady Schorr.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, June 15.—The Lewis Clark stakes, run at Harlem, was won by Lady Schorr. Lady Schorr went to the front and stayed there, winning easily by a length and a half. There was a great crowd in attendance. The weather was fine.

M. Lewis Clark stakes, mile and eighth: Lady Schorr, first; Operator, second; Six Shooter, third. Time, 1:54 3-5.
